

Implementation Criteria

CRITERIA FOR ASSESSING GOVERNMENT PROGRESS ON IMPLEMENTATION OF THE $10ADAY CHILD CARE PLAN

Effective implementation actions and ongoing assessments of government's progress should be consistent with key elements of the Community Plan for a Public System of Integrated Early Care and Learning — commonly known as the $10aDay Plan.

Three key elements are particularly important in the early stages of system-building:

1. Evidence based policy and funding decisions
2. Integrated approaches
3. Balanced roll-out

Evidence-based policy and funding decisions

Implementation progress will be assessed against criteria based on the research and evidence about what policies and funding mechanisms 'work'. Key criteria include:

- Government's commitment to build high quality, universal public system is a top priority
- Rights of First Nations are respected and supported, consistent with UNDRIP and TRC
- Affordability is enhanced through reduced and capped parent fees

- Quality is enhanced through increased ECE compensation and education
- Access is enhanced by developing inclusive services that are publicly/ community planned & owned
- Direct operating funds to licensed programs are used to deliver new public funding, rather than increasing subsidies to parents
- Accountability for public funding is tied to achieving public goals

Integrated approaches

Implementation will, where possible, begin by integrating existing BC building blocks including:

- Education and care — recognizing that quality child care is early learning by preparing to move child care into the Ministry of Education and developing accompanying legislation
- Direct funding mechanism — using the Child Care Operating Fund (CCOF) to deliver new funds to licensed programs that meet the Plan's accountability requirements, including lowering fees and raising wages in inclusive, play-based programs (consistent with BC Early Learning Frameworks)

Implementation progress will be assessed against criteria based on the research and evidence about what policies and funding mechanisms 'work'.

- Services — inviting licensed (centre & family) services into new system, with improved accountability expectations, and developing a process to support unlicensed caregivers to transition to licensed sector
- Planning — engaging existing and new early childhood community tables and other public sector bodies in community planning processes
- Supports and oversight — enhancing the roles of Child Care Resource and Referral Programs, Child Care Licensing, Supported Child Development and related programs and services
- Public support — building on widespread public support and consensus achieved to date through recent consultations, polling, and community discussions

Balanced Roll-Out

Implementation will balance a range of needs and issues that all need to be addressed as part of system-building. These include:

- Providing benefits for both families and educators
- Taking short-term, concrete actions while planning for the longer term
- Incorporating universality that ensures inclusion for all and minimizes barriers to access
- Improving affordability and quality in existing spaces while expediting creation of new quality, affordable spaces
- Providing opportunities for ongoing dialogue/input while taking prompt action
